STATE OF FLORIDA
MILITARY DEPARTMENT
OFFICE OF THE ADJUTANT GENERAL
ST. AUGUSTINE

December 31, 1946.

His Excellency, The Governor of Florida and Commander-in-Chief, State Armed Forces, Tallahassee, Florida.

Sir:

Herewith is submitted the biennial report of the Adjutant General of Florida, pertaining to the administration of the Division of Military Affairs of the Executive Department for the calendar years 1945 and 1946, pursuant to the provisions of Section 250.14 Florida Statutes, 1941.

GENERAL

The past two years have witnessed unusual and increased activities in the Department. In the early months of 1945, the State's military man-power was strained, beyond any preconceived ideas, to meet the demands of World War II. 238,431 Florida men and women were furnished to the federal armed services, of which number 4,712 made the supreme sacrifice.

Armed Victory. The unconditional surrender of enemy armies was effected:

Germany	May 8, 1945
Japan	September 2, 1945

OFFICIAL CESSATION OF HOSTILITIES OF WORLD WAR II PROCLAMATION

"With God's help this nation and our allies, through sacrifice and devotion, courage and perseverance, wrung final and unconditional surrender from our enemies. Thereafter, we, together with the other United Nations, set about building a world in which justice shall replace force. With spirit, through faith, with a determination that there shall be no more wars of aggression calculated to enslave the peoples of the world and destroy their civilization, and with the guidance of Almighty Providence great gains have been made in translating military victory into permanent peace. Although a state of war still exists, it is at this time possible to declare, and I find it to be in the public interest to declare, that hostilities have terminated.

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, HARRY S. TRUMAN, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim the cessation of hostilities of World War II, effective twelve o'clock noon, December 31, 1946.

"IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

(Seal) "DONE at the City of Washington this 31st day of December in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-six, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventy-first.

HARRY S. TRUMAN."

By the President:

JAMES F. BYRNES,
The Secretary of State.

THE FLORIDA NATIONAL GUARD IN WORLD WAR II

The 265th Coast Artillery under the command of Colonel Percy L. Wall manned fixed and mobile sea and air defenses around the perimeter of the United States and in Alaska and the Aleutian Islands.

This regiment, while enjoying a superior service rating, was inactivated on 17 August 1944 while stationed at Fort Greely, Alaska, in violation of all laws and policies which had been enunciated by the federal government, in order to permit the Regular Army clique to create new commands for its junior personnel. Personnel of the regiment were integrated in both old and new combat organizations and continued to render outstanding service in various theaters of war.

The following organizations as integral parts of the famous 31st Infantry Division fought in major engagements against the Japanese armies from New Guinea to the Philippine Islands:

- Headquarters 31st Division (Florida Part)

- Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, 56th Field Artillery Brigade

- Headquarters, 62nd Infantry Brigade (Florida Part)

- 2nd Battalion, 106th Combat Engineers

- Headquarters (Florida Part) and Company E, 106th Medical Regiment

- Headquarters and Company C, 106th Quartermaster Regiment
- 124th Infantry Regiment

- 116th Field Artillery Regiment, which, while in training, was deactivated as a regiment in order to conform to revised tables of organization. Its battalions were redesignated:

 - 116th Field Artillery Battalion

 - 149th Field Artillery Battalion

The battle flags of these units bear the inscriptions of sanguinary engagements at Aitape, Wakde-Sarmi, Morotai, on in to Mindanao. On the island of Mindanao, Florida troops of the 31st Division, which were then operating under the Command of Brigadier General Joseph C. Hutchison of Sanford, Florida, forced the capitulation of the blood-thirsty Japanese 35th Army, and called upon its commander, Lieutenant General Guosaku Morozumi, for the unconditional surrender of all Japanese forces within that battle area. On 8 September 1945, General Hutchison accepted the following articles of capitulation:

CAPITULATION

1. I, Lieutenant General Guosaku Morozumi, Acting Commanding General of the 35th Army and Commanding General of the 30th Division, hereby unconditionally surrender on this day all of the officers and men, and all arms, military equipment, records, and supplies under my command to the Commanding General, 31st Division, United States Army.

2. I agree faithfully henceforth to obey the orders of the Commanding General, 31st Infantry Division, and to direct all members of my command so to do.

3. I will use all means that I possess to secure as early as possible the assembly of all troops under my command within Reception Centers established by the United States Army, and will take action as directed by you to establish liaison with units and individuals who have not yet surrendered.

4. I will report all known locations of explosives and mines, both land and water, whose presence is a hazard to life and property.

s/ Guosaku Morozumi (Seal)

Lieutenant General, Imperial Japanese Army
Commanding.

Commanding.

Because of outstanding efficiency, the 124th Infantry had been selected as a model demonstration regiment for the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Georgia, where it maintained an enviable reputation for over a year, and Army Inspectors had been liberal in commending its superiority. It is painful to record here the jealous and hostile attitude of individual officers of the Regular establishment who by the Grace of God and their Class rings, promulgated orders directing the disbandment of this fine regiment, effective 2 March 1944. The regiment was deactivated; its colors placed in federal storage; its records lost and its personnel heart-broken and disillusioned, transferred to various units of the 31st and other fighting Divisions.

When news of the tragical injustice reached Governor Spessard L. Holland, he appealed to the Secretary of War for corrective action:

"I have unofficial information to the effect that the 124th Infantry, Florida National Guard Regiment is to be inactivated. If this is true I wish to protest most strongly on behalf of the State of Florida. This regiment, the old 2nd Florida Infantry, has a most excellent record extending back for many years. It has produced four General officers, one of them Major General Blanding who commanded it for eight years. It was inducted into Federal Service early in the present emergency and its officers and men have worked hard and faithfully to make it second to none. It was selected as a demonstration Regiment for the Officers Training School at Fort Benning. Its inactivation would be a severe blow to morale both in and outside of the service and arouse bitterness in the hearts of many of our citizens who have served in it in the past. Why such a regiment should be selected for oblivion when there are scores of others recently formed which have no record nor traditions is difficult to understand. May I ask that action be taken to keep the 124th in service? An early reply is requested."

The motives behind the deactivation order were apparently recognized by the Secretary of War, for the regiment was reconstituted by his orders effective 5 April 1944 and served with distinction throughout the Pacific Area Campaign as evidenced by the following citations:

SECOND BATTALION, 124TH INFANTRY. The Second Battalion, 124th Infantry Regiment, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy on Mindanao, Philippine Islands, during the period 22 April to 27 June 1945. The battalion landed at Cotabato, Philippine Islands, on 22 April 1945 and secured the area. Contact was established and forces committed in direction of Sarangani Bay and Nuro. The next day, the battalion was withdrawn from this action and directed to spearhead an infantry division advancing into the interior. This operation was aimed at securing the Sayre Highway, thereby cutting the main supply route and line of communications between the two enemy strongholds at Davao in the south and Cagayan in the north. The battalion embarked from Cotabato on the evening of 26 April 1945 in LCM's for Fort Pikit. The shortage of craft prevented the movement of organic vehicles and all weapons had to be hand carried. The battalion made a forced march of 16 miles immediately upon landing, the advance elements crossing the Pulangi River at its junction with the Sayre Highway during the night. A bridgehead was established and contact with the enemy was made at once. The entire battalion closed into the bridgehead at 1500 the same day, moving under adverse weather conditions and over difficult terrain. After only 3 hours rest, reports were received of an enemy force advancing south to the critical junction of the Sayre Highway and Highway Number 1 near Kabacan, endangering the entire operation. At 1800, the battalion moved north to contact and destroy the enemy. At 2300, after advancing 10 miles, the battalion met strong and determined opposition in a night fire fight. The engagement lasted through the night, the entire battalion being committed to halt the advance of a strong, fanatical force determined to destroy the critical bridgehead across the Pulangi River. The enemy was stopped and driven to the north by 0530, completely disorganized. The battalion had been without sleep for 3 nights, and had made forced marches by land and overwater movement by boat over a distance of 71 miles. Nevertheless, they reorganized, and at 0800, initiated a relentless pursuit of the enemy for an additional 5 miles. A captured field order identified the opposing force as a reinforced battalion supported by 75-mm guns. The enemy was completely disorganized from the fight and the aggressive pursuit of the battalion, and were destroyed in detail. The battalion was relieved on 29 April 1945 after 7 days of continuous fighting and marching without rest and moved in support of the lead battalion. Three days later, they were committed to the east on the Kibawe-Talomo Trail, the route of the enemy withdrawal, and for 3 days, fought a suicidal force endeavoring to get across the Pulangi River. The advance of the rest of the combat team was held up by a strong force in well-organized positions on ideal defensive terrain in the Pinalay Lake area. The battalion was then committed to this engagement, and for the next 4 days, attacked the position from the flanks and the rear. On the fourth day, supported for the first time by artillery fire, the battalion overran the position and was credited with 106 of the 187 enemy found killed. The next night, the enemy launched a counter-attack against the battalion perimeter, which lasted throughout the night. The attack was repulsed and 73 of the enemy were killed in the engagement. On 15 May 1945, they were committed to the capture of Silae, an enemy stronghold protecting a crossing of the Pulangi River. They broke the enemy line and pushed forward to secure the town on the same day. The deep, swift-flowing river was crossed at two points, by use of field expedients, and the remainder of the enemy force was either destroyed or driven into the mountains east of the river. The battalion was relieved and assembled in Malaybalay on 27 June 1945. The aggressive action of the battalion, continually driving the enemy before them, never allowing him to reorganize or consolidate, played a major role in the liberation of Mindanao in advance of the highest expectations. During the period, a total of 67 days, the battalion was in direct contact with the enemy for 50 days. Of the remaining time, only 4 days were available for rest and recuperation. The battalion accounted for 430 enemy killed, 117 found dead, and 5 prisoners of war. The conspicuous gallantry and outstanding performance of duty from 22 April to 27 June 1945 by all members of the Second Battalion, 124th Infantry Regiment, reflected great credit on themselves and upheld the highest traditions of the service. (General Orders 146, Headquarters 31st Infantry Division, 12 September 1945, as approved by the Commander in Chief, United States Army Forces, Pacific.)

THIRD BATTALION, 124TH INFANTRY. The Third Battalion, 124th Infantry, is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action near Aitape, British New Guinea, during the period 12 July 1944 to 7 August 1944. On 12 July 1944, the Third Battalion, after a forced march of 12 miles, routed an enemy held position east of the X-Ray River to secure a line of departure, to launch a counter-attack to restore the line of the Driniumor River, which had been penetrated by a determined fanatical enemy force the previous day. The Third Battalion, with an exposed right flank, led the attack and by strong aggressive action reached its objective late in the afternoon of 13 July 1944. This battalion was subjected to intense automatic and small arms fire from three exposed flanks throughout the night, as other elements of the combat team had been delayed by a strong enemy force and could not close in on the objective. On 14 July 1944, the Third Battalion in an advance to close the left flank of the unit on their right, met sudden intensified enemy resistance from all directions. The Third Battalion fighting with sheer determination under the most adverse circumstances finally overpowered the enemy, killing 168 enemy and severed and strongly secured the enemy's main supply route. This feat was accomplished so swiftly that an enemy supply train continued to advance down the trail directly into the strongest sector of the Third Battalion's perimeter, resulting in 131 enemy dead littering the trail and river bed. Shortly before daybreak on 16 July the Third Battalion was attacked by a well organized enemy force from the rear followed by a similar attack supported by mortar fire on the right flank by an enemy force occupying positions previously prepared by friendly troops. The opposition in that direction was quickly neutralized and one company of the battalion counter-attacked to the right and drove the enemy from their position where 416 enemy were killed. Early on the morning 21 July 1944, the enemy launched a vicious coordinated attack on the front and rear defense of the Third Battalion. There followed the most fanatical fighting up to this time, as the enemy attacked the well defended positions of the battalion time and time again, only to be repulsed by a superior force. On 31 July 1944, the entire regiment, reinforced by an infantry battalion, launched a counter-attack, to the east toward Niumen Creek, to relieve the pressure on the extreme southern flank and to secure a position from which the enemy could be enveloped and cut off. The Third Battalion on the extreme right flank of three battalions abreast with the reinforcing battalion following reached its objective early in the afternoon of 1 August 1944. Turning south the Third Battalion encountered well prepared positions and the advance was halted due to the bitter opposition. Following the engagement 99 enemy dead were counted. The advance to the south was continued through dense jungle, rough and swampy terrain, with the Third Battalion reaching the Afua Trail far in advance of the battalion on its right. On 5 August 1944, while attacking south on Niumen Creek, the Third Battalion contacted strong dug-in positions, but by aggressive action digging the enemy from caves and spider fox-holes in solid rock, continued to advance until 1500. Heavy mortar fire was received during the night and the enemy launched a vigorous counter-attack which was quickly repulsed by the Third Battalion. Immediately afterwards the Third Battalion launched an attack fixing the enemy in position, while another battalion flanked to the enemy's left; then a vicious coordinated attack was launched, destroying and routing an estimated reinforced battalion, accounting for 425 enemy dead. As a result of the strenuous action on 5 and 6 August the whole enemy force was practically annihilated and the constant contact with the desperate enemy force during the period of 13 July to 7 August 1944. The aggressive action of the Third Battalion relentlessly driving the enemy through mud, swamps, dense jungle growth and over rough mountainous terrain during heavy prevailing rains, never allowing the enemy to consolidate and reorganize played a major roll in the liberation of Aitape and established another "stepping stone" for allied armies to advance to the other strategic islands to the north. During this period the Third Battalion accounted for approximately 1300 enemy dead. The conspicuous gallantry and outstanding performance of duty from 13 July to 7 August 1944 by all personnel of the Third Battalion, 124th Infantry Regiment, reflects great credit upon themselves and the battalion and upholds the highest traditions of the Service.

Federal aid to the reorganized and enlarged Florida National Guard will be considerably increased. Besides military weapons, uniforms and equipment valued at several million dollars, federal funds will be made available for armory drill pay; camp pay; caretaker, mechanic and clerical hire and for other maintenance problems in an estimated annual budget of $1,000,000.00. However, under existing laws the State must agree to furnish adequate housing and administration. Under prewar conditions the National Guard was efficiently operated at a strength of 3,500 men on an annual state budget of $125,000.00, however, present plans now call for a strength of 9,624 men with 25 additional units and such a force cannot be reached and maintained with State appropriations less than 20% of the overall costs, or an annual State expenditure of around $245,000.00.

SWAN SONG

It has been a distinct privilege to have served the State of Florida for more than eighteen years as its Adjutant General and as Chief of the Governor's Military Staff. On April 15, 1947, I will have reached the statutory age for retirement, and I take the opportunity, in this final report, of expressing heartfelt gratitude to the people of Florida who have furnished valuable cooperation, and a sympathetic understanding of the problems incident to the maintenance of a dependable militia. Without this assistance the State would have been ill prepared in meeting the shock of Pearl Harbor, and in furnishing that expert military leadership which is demanded in modern warfare.

To Governor John Martin I am indebted for my original appointment on June 29, 1928. Successively the following Commanders-in-Chief have guided the policies of the Department:

Governor Doyle E. Carlton.....	1929-1932
Governor David Sholtz.....	1933-1936
Governor Fred P. Cone.....	1937-1940
Governor Spessard L. Holland.....	1941-1944
Governor Millard Caldwell.....	1945-to date

To these civilian commanders I am especially grateful. Service under their command has been a pleasure, and the State's armed forces have been inspired toward higher principles and ideals of service by their distinguished leadership.

To my associates in the National Guard; the State Guard and the Naval Militia, I am grateful for a degree of loyalty and efficiency which few public officials have enjoyed.

Respectfully submitted,

VIVIAN COLLINS,
Brigadier General, A. G. D., F. N. G.

THE FLORIDA STATE GUARD

With National Guard recruiting underway, it has been expedient to reduce the strength of the State Guard to eleven companies, totaling 540 officers and enlisted men. The Commander-in-Chief, in recognition of the valuable services rendered by eleven thousand citizens of Florida who served at various periods in the Florida State Guard, has expressed his sentiments in the following Certificate of Appreciation which is now going out to each individual concerned:

"Your patriotic contribution assured the State of proper security at a time when the demands of World War II had called away its regularly established security forces."

Under the tactical command of Colonel Edgar D. Vestel, this force reached a high state of military efficiency, and the state has at all times been assured of dependable aid to civil authorities for any emergency which might arise.

Summer training camps were held at the following army camps where federal officers afforded valuable assistance and cordial cooperation.

1945 — June 10 to 17 — Army Air Base, Orlando

1946 — June 16 to 22 — Camp Blanding

SELECTIVE SERVICE

Selective Service activities are slowing down, and clerical personnel has been reduced to 50% of its regular operating strength. While Registration and Classification have been continued, all Inductions were stopped on September 1, 1946.

Local Boards are presently interested in veterans' assistance, and in the compilation of valuable statistical data.

As an economy measure, in those counties where two or more local Boards had been appointed, all boards within the county have been consolidated into County Local Board Groups operating under one clerical supervisor.

While records indicate that enlistments and inductions to date total 238,431, the following county statistics are submitted as a matter of interest with the explanation that totals therein listed contain around 16,000 Re-enlistments which were credited to the local boards.

Report based on registrants of Groups 1, 2, 3, 5, and 6, as of December 31, 1946. (Excluding deceased registrants.)
